Waiting list phased out

By Andrew Miller
 Plans to phase out the waiting list of applicants for admission to the University of Colorado at Boulder have been approved by the Board of Regents. The board, which meets every two years, approved the plan on August 15. The plan would allow the university to accept more students than it can accommodate in its first-year classes. The plan would also allow the university to accept more students than it can accommodate in its first-year classes.

Sales tax hinders students

On June 15, Ontario's new sales tax legislation went into effect. For students, already plagued by soaring unemployment, this means a further drain on personal resources.

It proves contradictory to attempt to aid post-secondary students through OSAP yet also to take tax on essential items such as residence, utilities food and school supplies.

The Ontario government had also shown little regard for students by cutting back its budget for Education '82. This resulted in the elimination of 1200 jobs. To add salt to the already aching wound the provincial government has students with 12.5% tuition increase and increased expected student saving. In OSAP increases by 24 per cent.

The current figure of 21 000 unemployed students in Ontario represents an increase of 29% over the same period last year. Students unable to find work will undoubtedly have a great deal of difficulty paying for their education, even if their students unemployment status at a time when education and living costs for the average student in Ontario has just hit its highest for 1981.

The government is hindering students both higher costs and inadequate employment opportunities. To put the icing on the cake the Ontario Dominion Bank closed a college on funding for a student loan. They are trying to divert their student loans to a 10% growth rate despite a projected increase of 25%.

It is to be expected the Bank of Montreal announced restrictions on the processing of student loan applications. Also the Canadian Bankers' Association is hoping to raise the interest rate for students loans up to the highly variable prime rate and make student loans more severely based on a 10% monthly average of the Canada Savings Bond.

Students also struggle every day student in three in Ontario. It unfortunately that the banks have to follow the government, year example and turn their backs on the future of Ontario students.

Hands Off!

This year Canada's Dog Company will have a number of registered students within its borders. Each student is accompanied by a seeing eye dog who is directly responsible to his owner for guidance and safety.

The relationship of the seeing eye dog to its owner cannot be stressed enough. Such has been found to be true students of the importance of maintaining their guiding name-calling, kissing, hugging, holding, ruffling, touching or any other form of contact with these dogs which help them to do their job. Such students have many dogs to love their companions and have their own personalities in their own right.

These seeing eye dogs have been trained to perform specific duties for their owners and are a valuable part of the disabled student's survival. It is up to the students of this college to recognize that value by letting these extraordinary dogs do their share of the classroom.

Mechanical students get their just rewards

Twelve mechanical students at Queens College in Kingston and two non-mechanical students at the same school received the 1981-82 Mechanical Award of the Ontario College and University Association of Mechanical Engineers (OCME). The award was presented by the Mechanical Club of Queens College and was held at the 1982 AGM of the OCME at Kingston.

The awarding of the award to the 12 mechanical students at Queens College was a result of their excellent performance in the mechanical club. The award is an annual prize of the Mechanical Club of the Ontario College and University Association of Mechanical Engineers (OCME).

John Parker of John Dore, Henry Park of St. Catharines and Greg Wilson of Yorkville were the winners. The award was presented to the winners by the OCME at the 1982 AGM in Kingston.

I am sure that many of the college's new students have many questions about college life. While these questions may be answered by a committee of students or by a teacher, it is more likely that the answer will be found in the college's own literature. The college has a few well thought out brochures.

For this reason, it is the responsibility of the college to provide a good answer to people who are interested in the college. The college has a few well thought out brochures. The college has a few well thought out brochures.

President's Message

OSA President Randy MacIsaac

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to Queens College for the academic year of 1982-83. You have this year and for a totally new experience for both new students and returning students.

The Queen's Student Association (OSA) is a separate incorporated body in which all full time students have paid their share. As a result of paying activity fees, you are members in the OSA.

The OSA's purpose is to make college life as pleasant and enjoyable for you both personally and as a student body. We would like you to feel good while you're here, things around you feel like place more effectively.

The OSA is run by an Executive plus a Board of Directors. The Executive is already in place for this year. Let me tell you.

David Bell, Activities Coordinator, Rob Aris, Treasurer, Jung Anson, Assistant Treasurer, Sherry Mason, Secretary, James Wallace, Entertainment Coordinator, Jeff Brown, Pub Manager.

The Board of Directors is made up of one representative from each program in the college. They will be elected for these positions within a few weeks. I encourage you to participate in the student government by offering to represent your particular program.

The OSA runs a wide variety of activities in which students of all walks of life can participate. The most vibrant activities are in the OSA's sports and social variety sports teams, which we need your support. There are many other activities that you can become involved in. If you have any questions, we (OSA) have offices at the bottom of the stairs in the cafeteria, as well as our door openers there. We're the friendly ones here.

Remember, by becoming involved, you become a part of Queens College and then you can feel proud of your accomplishments. I hope everybody has a successful and fun filled academic year because I'm behind you a little bit too.

David Lee's
 1981-82 OSA President,
 Randy MacIsaac

The Central Ontario Exhibition (COE) celebrated one month from Monday through to Monday December 7 the end of the 100th Anniversary.

The exhibition opened again the same as ever including thousands of exhibits from both sides of the water, roller coasters, and every possible attraction of the theme, throughout, and around the city.

Visitors could see the exhibition with many exhibits in the surrounding buildings, such as the Ontario Science Centre, and the Ontario Museum.

The COE was the first exhibition to be held in the city since the 1950s. It was the first to be held in the city since the 1950s.

The exhibition has received over 100,000 visitors, and is a great place to visit for a great day.

King shocks in Cujo

A boy and his dog. That's the theme of the new book by Stephen King. The book is a horror novel, and it's a very good one.

The story is set in a small town in Maine. A boy named Cujo is the main character. He is a very good boy, and he is very smart.

A person's behavior is a reflection of their character. This is a very good book, and it's a very good one.
